DETAILED ACTION

Clarification is needed for the following. In the remarks section of the papers filed 02/22/10, it is stated that "Claims 21-32 are pending". However, only claims 21-25 are included in the claims. Clarification and correction are required. For the purposes of examination, the application has been treated as if claims 21-32 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 21-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim(s) 21, 27 fail(s) to recite sufficient structural elements and interconnection of the elements to positively position and define: 1) how the transversal bars are movable on the long struts; 2) how the transversal bars are arranged movable and lockable; 3) what structures and relationship thereof allow for the unit load to be lifted from the fixture together with the loading ledges so that an integral structure able to function as claimed is recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 21-32, so far as definite, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harvey in view of Hodges, Maurer, and Cavalier et al. The patent to Harvey teaches structure substantially as claimed including a fixture having an approximate rectangular frame, formed of at least two parallel long struts (11) and at least two parallel short struts(12) at the ends of the long struts, transversal bars are arranged moveable on the long struts, with the ends of each bar on each long strut, a plurality of structure to engage a load, the only difference being that the structure to engage a load is not a plurality of cups and further including a loading ledge attached to the cups, one or more packages is received on the loading ledges to form the unit load and the unit load after forming is lifted from the fixture together with t load is not lifted from the fixture. However, the patent to Hodges (load engaging structure 30) teaches the use of providing cups (25 are receptacles receiving the load engaging structure 30), the load engaging structure including feet at 31 that engage the cups, the patent to Maurer teaches the load engaging structure to be an elongated ledge, and the patent to Cavalier et al teaches the use of providing a "package load" lifted off together.. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Harvey to include adjustable cups and load engaging structure in the form of shortened ledges and to form such ledges as an elongated ledge structure, as taught by Mauer, and such load structure lifted off as a unit, as taught by Cavalier et al since such structures are conventional alternative structures used in the same intended purpose, and would have been a reasonably predictable result thereby providing structure as claimed. The method would have been obvious in view of the structures.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 02/22/10 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. It is noted that language obviating the 112 rejection would receive favorable consideration.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The reference to Olsen teaches structure similar to applicant's.
